

the Polish American Journal is a familiar voice in these halls. It was this publication that gave us firsthand accounts of a war-ravaged Poland and the plight of the Poles who were forced to live behind the Iron Curtain. During that period, the Journal became the most quoted ethnic newspaper in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, as its headlines were cited by many of our former colleagues and their constituents.

Since that time, the Polish American Journal has fought hard to see freedom restored in Poland, a dream that was realized with the election of Lech Walesa to Poland's presidency.

While the Polish American Journal has demonstrated its role as a voice for Poland here in the United States, it more importantly serves as witness to the countless contributions Americans of Polish descent make to the United States. From Revolutionary War heroes Thaddeus Kosciuszko and Casimir Pulaski to World War II flying ace Col. Francis Gabreski and the highly decorated late Col. Matt Urban, Poles and Polish-Americans have long demonstrated their deep commitment to America's liberty.

The pages of the Polish American Journal are a record of the achievements of Polish-Americans in all fields, from academia and politics to science and the arts. This gives all citizens of the United States a deeper understanding and respect for the lives of the sons and daughters of self-sacrificing immigrants whose stories proudly shine in the colorful ethnic mosaic we call America.

Since its founding, the Polish American Journal has been dedicated to the promotion and continuation of Polish-American culture in the United States, a heritage rich in the joys of the family, church, and country. Its anniversary is a milestone by which all can be proud, for its success mirrors the achievements of all Polish-Americans whose virtues and ethics have contributed to American society.

Mr. Speaker, I congratulate the paper on its anniversary and commend its staff, writers, contributors, and subscribers who take pride in their economic roots and who willingly share the ideals of their ancestors with Americans of all backgrounds.

HONORING REPRESENTATIVE PATRICIA SCHROEDER OF COLORADO AND REPRESENTATIVE CARDISS COLLINS OF ILLINOIS

HON. JOHN D. DINGELL

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, October 1, 1996

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to add voice to those who want to recognize two wonderful public servants and truly special people, my colleagues PAT SCHROEDER and CARDISS COLLINS. It has been an honor for me to serve with these two distinguished Members, who have worked hard to help the people of Colorado, Illinois, and the United States. Their dedication, passion, and commitment to the betterment of our country will be missed.

For 11 terms, Pat Schroeder, my friend from Colorado, has been an active and influential leader on behalf of women's and children's issues, health care, educational opportunity, constitutional rights, and foreign and military policy. In doing so, she has shaped legislation that has affected every American and has earned the respect of legislators on both sides of the aisle.

By holding strong to her convictions and by keeping an unwavering commitment to help America, PAT SCHROEDER has become one of the best-known Members of this body. To many Americans, PAT SCHROEDER has become synonymous with women's rights, and rightfully so. Allies on important issues are always thankful to have PAT fight on their behalf, while foes on issues fear her powerful voice.

PAT SCHROEDER's legislative accomplishments are countless. Some of her most recent bills that are now law include the Violence Against Women Act, the Economic Equity Act, the Breast and Cervical Cancer Prevention Act, the Child Support Responsibility Act, and the National Child Care Protection Act.

PAT SCHROEDER has won recognition from a wide range of groups because of her dedication, including the National Women's Hall of Fame. We'll all remember PAT, though, for some of the every day things she does, like the smiley faces in her signature, the bunny suits and her flair for language and the art of debate. As I told her earlier this year, without PAT we never would have known whether Presidents were Teflon or Velcro, or which hawks were really chickens in disguise.

My colleague from Illinois, CARDISS COLLINS, also has had a most distinguished career of service to her constituents, and significant legislative contributions during her tenure here. Since arriving in 1973, CARDIS COLLINS not only has been a remarkable congresswoman, but has been a leader. CARDISS COLLINS has led the charge on minority, women's, children's, and safety issues. By doing so, she has enhanced equality and helped our Nation become stronger and safer.

I have had the honor to serve with CARDISS on the Commerce Committee, where I was able to witness her hard work and commitment to not only the people of Illinois, but to all Americans.

During her tenure as chair of the Subcommittee on Commerce, Consumer Protection, and Competitiveness, CARDISS COLLINS was instrumental in enacting the Child Abuse Prevention Act, the Child Safety Protection Act, the Gender Equity in Athletics Disclosure Act, and many, many other bills. She also conducted investigations which helped triple the number of child care centers in the General Services Administration.

CARDISS COLLINS' tireless efforts have also resulted in increased safety standards for America's airline passengers, tougher safety standards in the transport of toxic materials, and an increased African-American participation in advertising. She has led a dedicated staff both in the Government Reform Committee, and before that in the Energy and Commerce Subcommittee on Commerce, Consumer Protection and Competitiveness. It was on this panel that Chairwoman COLLINS led hearings on gender equity, insurance redlining, and deceptive practices in the sale of life insurance.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud to have served with such noble individuals. PAT SCHROEDER and CARDISS COLLINS will not be forgotten. America owes them both a debt of gratitude. I urge all my colleagues to salute PAT and CARDISS for their exceptional accomplishments as Members of the House. They both will be greatly missed, but I know they will both find great satisfaction in their future endeavors.

TRIBUTE TO CONGRESSWOMEN SCHROEDER AND COLLINS

HON. WILLIAM (BILL) CLAY

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, October 1, 1996

Mr. CLAY. Mr. Speaker, when the 105th Congress convenes next year, this body will regrettably be absent two of its most dedicated and distinguished public servants, the Honorable PAT SCHROEDER and the Honorable CARDISS COLLINS. It is with mixed feelings of pleasure and sadness that I rise today in tribute to these two extraordinary leaders.

Congresswoman SCHROEDER and Congresswoman COLLINS have served the Congress longer and with greater dedication than few others. Among women Members, their longevity is virtually unmatched. As co-founders of the Congressional Women's Caucus they have shared in the historic mission of elevating this body's awareness and understanding of legislative issues of greatest concern to women. Both have served selflessly and tirelessly in the struggle for social justice and equality.

PAT SCHROEDER and CARDISS COLLINS represent very different constituencies. Their legislative styles are distinct and they speak in somewhat different voices, but they have consistently spoken in unison on behalf of those who have been traditionally under-represented in the halls of Congress. The achievements of these two legislative giants are too numerous to recount and too phenomenal to address adequately in these few minutes. They each leave a legacy of achievements fulfilled. PAT has performed some miraculous feats as a member of the National Security Committee while CARDISS has left her signature on the business of the Commerce Committee. And both of these great Members of Congress have left her personal imprimatur on issues like health care, education, employment security, environmental protection, consumer safety, and civil rights and humanitarian causes.

These two gentlewomen have made countless personal sacrifices and enormous contributions to this body and to the Nation. No truer advocates of peace, justice, and equality I have known in my 28 years in Congress. Congresswoman CARDISS COLLINS acts from the heart and steadfastly nurtures policies of fairness and virtue. Congresswoman PAT SCHROEDER speaks eloquently from her soul and illuminates the path to truth and justice.

Mr. Speaker, the Congresswoman from Denver and the Congresswoman from Chicago have played magnificent roles in redirecting our future. They have moved our Nation closer toward realizing those principles of freedom and equality of which our Nation's founders paid lip service but to which they failed miserably in their shameless defense of racism and sexism. Our Nation and this institution have changed for the better by the dedicated contributions of these exceptional legislators.

Representatives SCHROEDER and COLLINS have demonstrated the kind of faith and dedication that inspire the best in others. I will PAT's humor and I will miss CARDISS' determination, and I will especially miss their generous support and friendship. My memories of
